What We're Learning

News From the Nest

At school this week, we began talking about community helpers. Each day we talked about a different job that someone could have. During circle time, the kiddos talked about jobs that their parents have as well as what they wanted to be when they grow up. Check ClassTag for the list of what your child wants to be one day!

During our fine motor centers, some of the crafts we made included, chefs, firefighters, and doctors.

We also worked on the letter "O" this week. As a class, we practice the sound the letter makes, talked about things that start with that letter, and learned a new song about an octopus who swam in the ocean. When it was time to make something for our alphabet books, we of course, made owls (Miss Karolyn's favorite!) out of the letter "O".

The kiddos really enjoyed the doctor center this week. We added prescription cards, doctor charts, and pictures of x-rays. They spent their week taking care of sick barbies, babies, and dinosaurs.

On Wednesday, Miss Fran came in to help us learn how to be chefs! We got to make our own English muffin pizzas. It was so fun!

Next week we will continue talking about jobs in our community. Our letter of the week will be, "Pp". When it is your child's show and tell day, please have them bring something in that matches that letter.
