Mr. Ed's Awesome News!

This Week

We had a bright week learning all about different colors. Throughout the week we explored the rainbow, each day talking about a new color! During circle time we learned songs about red, orange, yellow, green, blue and purple that taught us about objects that were each color, and even how to spell each word!

This week during Social Skills we read Little Blue Little Yellow. In the story Little Blue and Little Yellow are best friends and one day they hug...turning each other GREEN! After we read the story, we worked together taking turns mixing in ingredients to make blue and yellow playdoh. After our Playdoh was finished, we each received a little blue and a little yellow to mix together to make our own green Playdoh.

During story time we read a story each day that had a new feeling to match our color; red-anger, orange-confidence, yellow-happiness, green-peaceful, and blue-sadness. Throughout each story we talked about how to identify each feeling and what happens when we feel that way. During our craft time on Friday, we became emotions detectives where we made our own detective spy glass to help us find and identify emotions that are around us.

This week we had fun exploring in our color sensory bin, playing in our lights out centers, building with blocks, reading books in the library with Miss Ilia and Charlotte, playing outside with the parachute and running around on the playground.
